

Peccadillo Pictures Presents

A film by Antonio Hens

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE STRAIGHT TO BE A TERRORIST...

Israel Rodriguez   Luis Hostalot   Hugo Catalan   Pepa Aniorte

Official Selection, New York NewFest Film Festival

Official Selection, Seattle Gay & Lesbian Film Festival

Rebellious wild child Xabi is proof personified that you don't have to be straight to be a terrorist. The rebellious young man has been in and out of reform schools and prisons since he was a child. While out on the streets, he meets and falls in love with hot-headed militant Iñaki (Luis Hostalot), a middle-aged Basque separatist who teaches him the ways of his revolution. Along with his two friends, Mexican Joel and Moroccan immigrant Driss, Xabi dramatically escapes from prison and hitches a ride to Madrid. On the hunt for his revolutionary lover, Xabi picks up a trick at a mall, steals his gun, breaks into an empty apartment and sets up a small bomb factory, all so that he can impress Iñaki. However, Joel and Driss unwittingly scupper his plans...

Antonio Hens

Born in Cordoba, Spain in 1969. Studied English at Granada University and film direction at ECAM, the official film school in Madrid. He currently works as a TV director. His film work includes films for television, scriptwriting and shorts. His short Malas Compañías (Doors Cut Down) became the most awarded Spanish short of the year 2000 and was elected as the best Spanish short of its decade by Canal+ Spain.

DVD Release Date: April 19th   Running Time: 80 mins   Extras: TBA
Certificate: 18   RRP: £12.99

Press Images = <http://picasaweb.google.com/PeccadilloPictures>

For more information:

Press contact: Simon Savory, simon@peccapics.com