FASHION VICTIMS

Wolfgang is a well-heeled clothes salesman with a comfortable home, loyal wife and amiable children. When spunky and devious salesman Steven arrives on the scene with a smart, contemporary fashion collection, the shopkeepers rush to stock his wares. In a mad panic, Wolfgang uses the family savings to prop up his failing empire of tatty glad rags. Unbeknownst to him, reserved son Karsten has started to make eyes at the dashing Steven. This in turn puts Karsten in an awkward position. Should he stay loyal to his irritable father and his dowdy dressing gowns, or give in to his emotions and make a move on sexpot Steven? Matters are further complicated when his mother invites busybody chum Brigitta, a resident fruitcake and serial snooper, in on the case to get to the bottom of things. Karsten's sexual leanings, Steven's dirty dealings, and Wolfgang's crafty stealing are all uncovered in an outrageous finale.
