

Peccadillo Pictures Presents
A film by Wendy Jo Carlton

HANNAH FREE

A film about a lifelong love affair between an independent spirit and the woman she calls home.

Starring Sharon Gless (Cagney & Lacey, Queer As Folk)

Release Date: 5th July / Running Time: 87mins / Certificate: TBC

Extras: interviews with Sharon Gless, writer Claudia Allen, director Wendy Jo Carlton and the cast and crew; Bloopers; Behind the Scenes featurette

Starring Sharon Gless (Burn Notice, Queer as Folk, Cagney & Lacey) in a tremendous performance, Hannah Free tells the moving story of the lifelong love affair between an independent spirit and the woman she calls home. Hannah and Rachel grow up in the same Midwest town, where traditional gender expectations eventually challenge their deep love for one another. Hannah becomes an adventurous, unapologetic lesbian and Rachel a strong but reserved homemaker. Weaving between past and present, HANNAH FREE reveals how these two passionate women maintain their love affair despite a marriage, a world war, infidelity, and family denial.

HANNAH FREE has played at 60+ film festivals in North America, including San Francisco's Frameline Fest and Los Angeles's OUTFEST, and has won multiple prestigious awards, including Best Feature Film at Philadelphia's Q-Fest, Austin's Gay & Lesbian Film Fest and Montreal's International LGBT Film Festival. The San Francisco Chronicle said of Sharon Gless' performance "She commands the screen," and Kevin Thomas of the Los Angeles Times calls this "A terrific role for Sharon Gless, who runs with it gloriously."

"A beautiful story, perfectly timed amid a national battle over gay marriage rights, reminding us of the urgency of achieving equality in legal recognition of our relationships." – Metro Weekly ★★★★★

Press contact - Simon Savory, simon@peccapics.com - www.peccadillopictures.com